

Rule 13: Representation

The parties may be represented or assisted in mediation by person(s) of their choice. Each party shall notify in advance the name(s) and the role(s) of such person(s) to the Mediator and to the other party through the Mediator. Where any party has appointed representative(s), it shall also designate one representative who shall have full authority to settle the dispute.

The parties may be represented or assisted in mediation by person(s) of their choice. Each party shall notify in advance the name(s) and the role(s) of such person(s) to the Mediator and to the other party through the Mediator. Where any party has appointed representative(s), it shall also designate one representative who